Epsilon Beta Hosts Charity Beach Volleyball Tournament

LAWRENCE—(October 12, 2009) —The Epsilon Beta Chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta, an international women's fraternity at the University of Kansas, is hosting Alpha Gam Slam, a beach volleyball tournament, this Sunday, October 11 from 2 until 4 p.m.

The sorority is holding the tournament on the beach volleyball courts outside Robinson Gym on the university's campus. University fraternities, sororities and alumnae participate in the tournament. Each player pays $15 for registration and an event shirt. Players can register the day of the event as an individual or on a five-person team.

All proceeds from this event benefit the Alpha Gamma Delta foundation. The foundation supports diabetes research and offers financial aid to alumni and scholarships to collegians. "The Alpha Gamma Delta Foundation does amazing things and we are so proud to support all that they do," Bryn Dekosky, philanthropy coordinator, said. "We like hosting this event because students have fun while giving back to the community".

About Epsilon Beta
